and Microsoft Teams Site

Prerequisite: None

Note: It is the student's responsibility to be familiar with the information contained in the Course Outline and to clarify any areas of concern with the facilitator.

Course Description:

In this course, the student will gain a better understanding of family relationships, the roles within the family, and the dynamics between these relationships as family members move through time. An overview of the major conceptual frameworks used to understand the patterns and dynamics that operate in families will also be discussed. Subject matter includes models of family functioning, family developmental stages, the stages of family evolution and stressors that families may face.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, the student will be able to:

- Define the concept of family and understand the central assumptions and core concepts that are basic to knowing families as a system.
- Explain how families implement certain strategies in order to navigate primary tasks.
- Explain how internal and external stressors impact family function and structure.
- Compare and contrast each of the three theoretical models used in Family Systems study.
- Evaluate each of the developmental stages of individual family members that impact the family in such areas as mate selection, marriage, communication and intimacy, conflict, parenting and family in later life.
- Assess the factors that influence a family's patterns of interaction over time (e.g., death and loss, divorce, single parenthood, remarriage, step-parenting and same-sex households).

Course Format:

This remote course uses a variety of online teaching/learning methods including discussion, personal reflection, student presentations, role-plays, group activities and especially case studies. Our faculty aims to create a learning environment where the learner is actively engaged in inquiry, critical thinking and problem solving. The online classroom provides you with a space where you can learn with and from others in a cooperative and collaborative manner.

You are expected to take a very active part in online class discussions and take responsibility for your own learning while being a positive and co-operative team member. Columbia College uses a facilitation model of instruction where the facilitator's role is to facilitate your learning. The expectation is that you will come to the online class prepared with pre-class homework completed. Your facilitator will engage you in activities that are based on your completed homework and readings. Your enthusiastic and positive approach in the online classroom will create an atmosphere that will help every student develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes that are needed for success.

How you conduct yourself in our classes will, to a large extent, mirror your conduct in society and your future work site. For example, if you have a tendency to ask questions, challenge the ideas of others in a respectful manner, draw out the best from your colleagues, and encourage both group development and task accomplishment in this class, it is likely you will do the same at work. A high level of student involvement and developing professionalism is expected in the classroom as you work towards your goal.
